Date:12/04/25

Venue:Multipurpose Hall

No.of Participant :28

OBJECTIVES:

- To celebrate the end of the holy month of Ramadan with joy and togetherness.
- To promote cultural understanding and religious harmony among students.
- To provide a platform for students to showcase their talents through various activities.
- To strengthen bonds of friendship and unity among the student community.

Skill Development:

Royal College of Education and Research for Women organises special assembly on Eid-UI-Fitr on 12th April 2025 in our institute. The celebration offered students numerous opportunities for skill development. Through poetry recitation and shayri, students enhanced their public speaking abilities and gained confidence in expressing themselves. The creative nature of the event encouraged literary and artistic expression, while the collaborative activities helped improve teamwork and social interaction. Organizing and participating in the event also strengthened planning and coordination skills. Additionally, students developed a deeper appreciation for cultural diversity and mutual respect.

REFLECTION:

The Eid-ul-Fitr celebration at Royal College was much more than a festive gathering—it was a moment of togetherness, cultural expression, and meaningful interaction. For many students, it was a chance to reconnect with their cultural roots and share them proudly with peers from different backgrounds. In the presence of our respected principle ma'am Dr Judy Grace Andrews and all professor's the event began with fostered a deeper sense of community and inclusiveness within the college environment.

Students reflected on the values of compassion, gratitude, and generosity that Eid represents. Through poetry and shayri they expressed emotions and thoughts that are often left unspoken in day-to-day life. The positive response from the audience encouraged many shy or hesitant students to come forward and participate, thus building their confidence.

Additionally, the event highlighted the importance of respecting and celebrating diversity in an educational institution. Many students remarked that they learned new things about Eid that they hadn't known before, which promoted empathy and cross-cultural understanding. The overall atmosphere was one of joy, learning, and unity, leaving everyone with a strong sense of pride and belonging.
