REFLECTION:

Royal College of Education and Research celebrated Eid, Gudi Padwa and Easter with great fun and enthusiasm on 15th of April, 2024. The celebration began with a ceremonial lamp lightening. There were Paper readings on Eid, Gudi Padwa, and Easter enlightening everyone with the significance of these festivals also educating about how these festivals are celebrated worldwide. There were singing and dance performances that filled the atmosphere with fun, joy and energy.

Celebrations like these strengthens the bonds with peers and community. Despite their unique origins, these celebrations often share themes of renewal, family gatherings, feasting, and spreading joy and goodwill. Bringing them together can be a beautiful reflection of unity in diversity and the spirit of inclusivity.

Learning Outcomes Achieved:

Students learnt about all the three festivals and what they teach us through paper readings. It made them learn about different ways through which these festivals are celebrated in different parts of the world. It reflected beautifully the uniqueness of India that is unity and diversity and sensitized the students about it. Students also got to learn how to work as a team in organizing such events and how to teach their future students to value diversity and unity and cherish them through the celebration.

Feedback of the Students:

Shifa: It was a fun as well as an informative morning as we came to know how Easter is celebrated.

Atiya:

The celebration was very well organised. We learnt the importance of celebration and also enhanced our knowledge about the celebration that took place in different states.

Roshni:

I loved the different traditional dances and paper reading was very informative.

Amanda: We got to know about various religions and their festivals. We also got to see the different ways of celebrating the festivals in different parts of the world.

Manisha: We truly enjoyed celebrating Eid, Gudi Padwa and Easter together.
