REFLECTION:

Royal College of Education and Research for women organises workshop helped to understand the structure of the CET in detail. Our S.Y. B. Ed students conducted this workshop . It made students feel more confident about the content, types of questions and how to approach each section. The breakdown of topics like teaching aptitude, general knowledge, and subject-specific knowledge has made it clearer which areas require more focus. Workshop provided effective strategies for tackling multiple-choice questions (MCQs) and other question formats. The approach of first eliminating the obvious incorrect answers and then making an educated guess for the remaining options is a technique plan to adopt in the exam. This strategy will help to manage time better and reduce stress when unsure about a question.

Feedback Of the Students:

1. Shifa Shaikh: The workshop was well-organized and informative.
2. Atiyya Mulani: It was great to share our own experiences about examination.
3. Shabana Khan: Each topic was explained in detail which was easy to understand.
