

ROYAL COLLEGE OF EDUCATION AND RESEARCH FOR WOMEN

REPORT ON EID-E-MILAD

DATE: 08/09/2025

VENUE: Multipurpose Hall

TIME: 9:30 am onwards

NO. OF PARTICIPANTS: 26

CO ORDINATOR: Dr Jasvanti Adhangale

OBJECTIVES:

To commemorate the birth of Prophet Muhammad (PBUH) by reflecting on his teachings of peace, compassion, and brotherhood.

- To foster unity, tolerance, and respect among students and staff through collective participation in the celebration.
- To inspire students to imbibe values of kindness, humility, and service to humanity from the life and message of the Prophet.
- To strengthen cultural and spiritual awareness within the college community by engaging in meaningful activities, performances, and reflections.
- To encourage an atmosphere of inclusivity and harmony by celebrating together as one college family.

SKILL DEVELOPMENT:

- Teamwork & Coordination: Preparing and presenting Naad in a group enhanced collaboration, harmony, and coordination among students, strengthening their ability to work collectively.
- Confidence & Public Speaking: Paper reading activity developed students' articulation, clarity, and confidence in expressing ideas before an audience.
- Cultural & Spiritual Awareness: Engaging in Naath deepened understanding of cultural traditions and spiritual expressions, nurturing respect for diversity.
- Research & Critical Thinking: Preparing papers encouraged students to research, reflect, and analyze the life and teachings of the Prophet, fostering intellectual growth.

REFLECTION:

The Eid-e-Milad-un-Nabi celebration at Royal College was organized with devotion and joy by the B.Ed. internship group, highlighting both cultural and spiritual significance. Our group took the responsibility of preparing the Eid-I-Milad —from decoration to board work— creating an atmosphere of reverence and festivity. The celebration included soulful Nath recitations and insightful paper readings, accompanied by videos that depicted how Eid-e-Milad is celebrated across communities, with a special focus on eco-friendly practices.

This experience was not just a celebration but also a journey of learning, teamwork, and creativity. It fostered awareness of cultural traditions, strengthened unity, and emphasized the importance of sustainable celebrations. For us as future educators, the event served as a reminder of how festivities can be transformed into meaningful learning opportunities that inspire values of peace, respect, and harmony among students and communities.
